

POLITICAL SCIENCE (POSCI)

Politics rules over everything you do as a human being and gives you an understanding that enables you to have more control over your own life. John Adams argued that the reason to study politics is so our children may have the liberty to engage in commerce in order to give their children a right to pursue painting, poetry, and music.

Political Science is the study of politics using the skills of social scientific inquiry. Politics is about power in relationships and the structures operating human society. Inquiry into politics explores the exercise of power in its myriad forms and consequences for people as individuals, in groups, and in society. It is the study of the unfolding of the human story on Planet Earth and just who it is we humans are going to become. This study of power is an integrated field of study drawing upon all the disciplines including most notably sociology, anthropology, philosophy, psychology, economics, urban and organizational studies, and futures studies.

Studying “politics” at College of Alameda prepares you to be an effective global citizen in a twenty-first century knowledge economy guided by the democratic ideal, an ethic of service and the principles of sustainable life and framed within the context of futures consciousness. We offer a pathway to success for you in our partnerships with local nonprofit organizations and relationships with Bay Area universities.

What you will be able to do with what you learn here...

Upon completion of an AA in Political Science at College of Alameda, you will be better able to: 1) demonstrate an overall working knowledge of the principles of governance; 2) demonstrably be able to utilize critical political thinking and “futures consciousness”; and 3) articulate an appreciation of how to apply what you’ve learned here in a manner useful to you in your own life. This set of life skills will enable you to become a more engaged citizen. Being effective in this, you will be better able to face the challenges of the twenty-first century and to adapt to the global social, economic, and environmental challenges we all face.

Careers in Political Science Careers often pursued by persons with training and degrees in political scientists include (but are not limited to): multiple levels of public service and leadership, attorney, diplomat, FBI/CIA Agent, foreign-service officer, labor organizer/union representative, legislative aide, politician, public intellectual, research specialist, and teacher. Other career options in Public Administration include: government management (City, County, Regional, State or Federal Levels); administrative and policy analysis; policy analysis; non-profit administration; and planning and resources development.

The College of Alameda “Politics” Department Program Learning Outcomes are a set of complex life skills. These allow student to use what they learn in our program in their lives beyond school. These are as follows:

- Demonstrate a degree of knowledge mastery representing the state of the discipline of political science (theoretical and practical knowledge of the historical background and the foundational principles of government and governance (utilizing: description, definition, summarization & explanation)); and a working knowledge of these in use; with respect to inter-relatedness of humans in the environment, engaging with people from diverse backgrounds, and in understanding and acknowledging the significance of daily individual and social actions relative to global issues and the emergence of our shared future.
- Demonstrate a degree of critical political thinking proficiency; as a set of at the life skills applied knowledge of the political grounded in futures consciousness; thus enabling one to better access, evaluate, and interpret ideas found in political philosophy and theory and information enabling people so disciplined to communicate effectively, reach conclusions, and solve problems as citizens – part of the governance structure of a political world – such that they may apply these in their professional pursuits should they choose a path of public service or community leadership, of simply community participants.
- Demonstrate a degree of capacity to assume personal & political efficacy and responsibility consistent with democratic republican values – in the application of socio-political concepts explored in this learning experience (class, classes, program) in a meaningful manner to a person’s own self defined reality in the public, private and social sectors; as part of their everyday life as engaged citizens in the modern world system; and in the context of global environmental (and other) challenges.
