

NEW CENTER FOR LIBERAL ARTS

College of Alameda's new Liberal Arts Building will provide a unified identity and home for the various Liberal Arts departments within an innovative and flexible modern learning environment. The new building will be in a prominent public position and will be visible to the on-campus and off-campus community, including signature programs of Apparel Design & Merchandising (Fashion) and Art.

This capital campaign will establish a fund to support signature programs at College of Alameda, Program Innovation, and the Alameda Promise.

The College of Alameda (CoA) Promise is a pathway for Alameda Unified School District graduates to access a quality college education. Eligible students will receive a free year of college and textbook voucher.
